Business Department announces Two New Articulation Agreements with Vermilion Community College in Ely, Minn.

*By Itollefts on Tuesday, September 11, 2012*The Business Department at the University of Minnesota, Crookston has implemented two new articulation agreements with Vermilion Community College (VCC). The agreement allows eligible students with an associate degree in business from VCC an option to transfer to the Crookston campus to complete a baccalaureate degree in business management either online or on site Students with an associate degree in sports management from VCC would have the option of a bachelor of science in sport and recreation management at the U of M, Crookston. Vermilion Community College, a two-year residential college, is located in Ely, Minn.

Articulation agreements are formal arrangements transferring a defined set of academic credits between an academic program of one institution, usually a two-year post-secondary institution, to a program within a college or campus of the University of Minnesota system in order to fulfill general education or program requirements. The biggest benefits of an articulation agreement include reduced chances of retaking the same coursework and the opportunity to move from an associate degree to a bachelor's degree at the U of M, Crookston.
